

Emergency Response Biological / Pandemic / COVID-19

Environmental Restoration, LLC (ER) is prepared to respond to COVID-19 response situations based on the customers' exact needs.

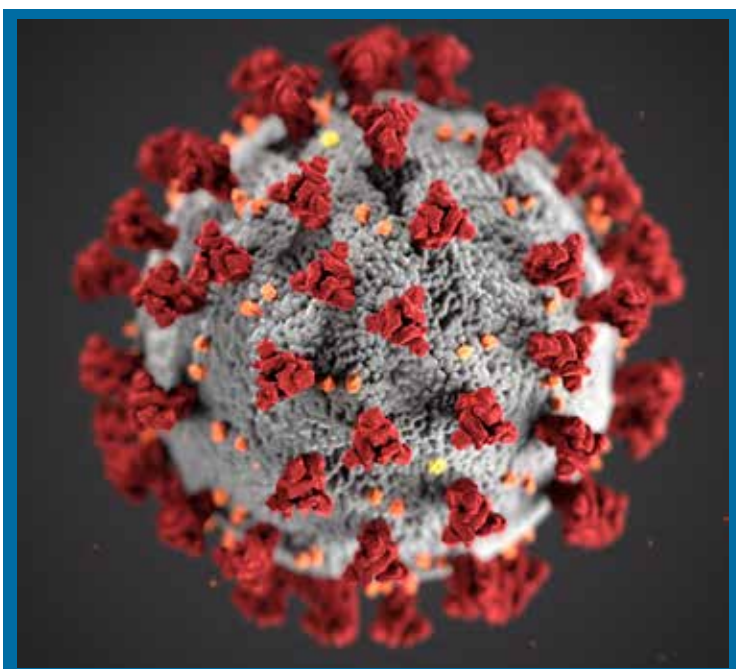

For over 20 years, ER has been providing Emergency Response Services to commercial and industrial clients as well as local and Government agencies and communities.

With 23 offices nationwide, ER is ready to respond at a moment's notice with professional and qualified personnel, trained for specialty responses like COVID-19.

ER is prepared to respond to COVID-19 response situations based on the customer's exact needs.

ER understands that all response scenarios are not created equal, so ER can also aid the customer in assessing and detailing a strategy for decontamination that is best suited for your situation. Once this synergy is established, a cost-effective methodology can be formulated to minimize exposure to life, health, and environmental damages. Third Party clearance verification is available upon request.

Our proven track record of providing timely and cost-effective response recovery will aid in reducing closures, down time, and limiting disruption to your ongoing business operations.
